

BUCK ENTERED AS CANDIDATE FOR THE HOUSE

Prominent Lee County Farmer Will Seek Nomination

A new element has developed in the race for the republican nomination for representative in this district. Earl R. Buck of Franklin Grove today announced his candidacy for the lower house of the legislature, giving Lee County Republicans an opportunity to have a member of the house of representatives from this county.

Mr. Buck is a high type of man and will appeal to the voters of the district as the sort of candidate who deserves the support and encouragement of the members of all parties.

Mr. Buck was a candidate four years ago and was given a splendid vote. He carried Lee County by a comfortable majority over a big field of candidates, but the other Lee county candidates divided enough votes to prevent his carrying the district.

The Lee County candidate is 46 years old, is married and has three daughters. He received his education and farm training at the University of Illinois and the school of agriculture at the university.

Has definite ideas. Mr. Buck is supervising the farming of 1,500 acres of Lee County farm lands and is also closely identified with the work of the Lee County Farm Bureau. He is manager of the insurance department of that organization.

Mr. Buck has definite ideas for the relief of farm and labor problems and would go to the state capitol to give thoughtful and conscientious service to his constituents and to the state at large. Among the high spots on his platform he stands for the following principles:

Economy in government.

Equality for agriculture and labor.

Equalization of taxes.

Enforcement of our laws.

A square deal on the location of hard roads.

Slander Case Went To Jury This Noon

Rockford, Ill., Feb. 8.—(AP)—The $50,000 slander suit brought by John A. L. Warren, unfrocked pastor of the Methodist church of Durand, against five members of his one-time congregation, went to the jury at 12:10 P. M. today.

This is the second trial of the case in which Warren, a graduate of McKendree College, Methodist Theological Seminary, and now a Rockford factory worker, charges that the five parishioners spread "false stories." The first trial in Winnebago county last November resulted in a $20,000 verdict for Warren, but Judge Arthur E. Fisher set the verdict aside because he said he had erred in charging the jury.

The defendants in the case are: Postmaster George Fritz, A. E. Swinson, bank president; Jud Van Sickle, Henry Graham and Edgar Best.

Warren was unfrocked by the Rock River Methodist Conference in the fall of 1927 after charges had been brought against him that he had been intimate with Hazel Lamb, daughter of the church janitor and domestic in his home. The girl, now Mrs. William Lathery of Kansas City, did not appear at either trial.

Mrs. Ida Jones Died Early This Morning

Officer Harry Jones of the Dixon police force this morning was advised of the death of his mother, Mrs. Ida Jones, for many years a resident of Dixon, at the St. Francis hospital in Granite City at 3:30 o'clock this morning. Mrs. Jones had been critically ill at the hospital since the first of the year, and recently her son made a trip to Granite City, where he submitted to two blood transfusion operations for her benefit. The body will be brought to Dixon for burial and funeral services will be held at the home of Harry Jones, 715 College ave., but details of the arrangements had not been completed today and they, with the obituary, will be published later.

Pedestrians Form Protective Assn.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 8.—(UP)—Speeding motorists who dash wildly by stop signs and otherwise fail to heed traffic regulations have finally aroused the ire of the man foot. Incensed by curtailment of walking privileges a group of Chicago men have formed a society which will have as its purpose the enforcement of traffic laws, rules and regulations in Chicago and other parts of the state.

The society, known as the Association for the Protection of Pedestrians, was granted a charter by Secretary of State William J. Stratton here today.

$200,000 Blaze In Lawrence, Kas. Today

Lawrence, Kans., Feb. 8.—(UP)—Fire today destroyed the Fraternal Aid Union Building, a three-story structure, causing $200,000 damage.

Flames leaped across the street to the City Hall, igniting the roof, and causing some damage there before the blaze was extinguished.

For a time the flames threatened the entire business district. Volunteer firemen took positions on roofs of adjoining buildings and prevented sparks starting new fires while the firemen battled the main blaze.

The fire started on the third floor where a University of Kansas dance was held last night. The blaze had been smoldering all night, police believed.

FRENCH NAVAL DELEGATES ARE NOT SATISFIED

They Show Displeasure at Statements Made By U. S. and Britain

London, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Naval conference circles today viewed with some concern the attitude of France and Italy toward statements of Secretary Stimson and Premier MacDonald setting forth British and American views on naval limitation—views which are strikingly near agreement.

It was open to question, in general opinion, whether the two statements of national aims advanced the procedure toward merging of the naval needs of the five powers into a compact satisfactory agreement or endangered final adjudication of differences with the two Mediterranean powers.

Italy, through Dino Grandi, Foreign Minister and delegation head, diplomatically expressed satisfaction with the British and American pronouncements on the grounds that they hastened the conference work by getting down to figures.

Tardieu Displeased. The French, however, were extremely taciturn. Andre Tardieu, French Premier, leaving for Paris for the week end, was reported to have been greatly displeased with the contents of the two announcements and the methods displayed in making them.

The Japanese officially had nothing to say. Reihiro Wakatsuki, former Japanese Premier and delegation head, said informally that he was "neither astonished nor annoyed." He said also that Japan had no intention at present of issuing a statement as she had nothing to add to her views which previously had been expressed publicly.

The statement of Prime Minister MacDonald, issued as it was late yesterday on top of Colonel Stimson's pronouncement the day before apparently caused considerable surprise, although undoubtedly the Prime Minister had talked with Colonel Stimson before issuing it.

Battleship Holiday. Mr. MacDonald proposed, principally, a battleship holiday until 1936 with the hope that these monster sea forts ultimately will be abolished along with the submarine. He voted with the Americans by insisting that if submarines be not abolished immediately, they be "humanized" and limited.

He also suggested a tonnage limitation for small cruisers, a combination of global and categorical tonnage limitation which would maintain a suitable equilibrium between fleets of the various nations; and he suggested further limitation of aircraft carriers whereby the maximum size would be reduced to 25,000 tons, age limit advanced, and the total tonnage reduced from 135,000 tons to 100,000.

The proposal generally was in accord with that of the Americans especially with regard to the triple battleship holiday and abolition of submarines but the suggestion of aircraft carriers was expected to bring up an argument between the two countries since the naval experts of the United States saw considerable British advantage if such a reduction were carried out.

FACES SENATE FIGHT

Washington, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Plain spoken opposition to the Stimson proposal for naval parity with Great Britain gave rise today to the forecast that it would encounter turbulent debate in the Senate if adopted by the London conference.

Chairman Hale of the Senate Naval committee in vigorously assailing the proposal yesterday promised that if a treaty should be negotiated "along the lines of the Stimson offer, or indeed should any treaty be negotiated, the whole matter will be fully threshed out on the floor of the Senate and its committees before final action is taken on ratification."

The Maine Senator touched only upon the cruiser section of the administration proposal as outlined in London by Secretary Stimson.

"If our policy had been the correct one in the past," he said, "and if nothing has occurred to change the wisdom of that policy, then the Stimson offer, which contemplates the building of at least eleven 6-inch gun cruisers at an additional cost over the fifteen cruiser program of at least $58,000,000 while giving us substantial parity in the types of ships allowed manifestly does not provide for our American naval needs."

Under the Stimson proposal, the United States would have to build 20 cruisers to bring the American cruiser fleet to a size comparable with that of Great Britain. Ten of these would have to be of the 10,000 ton type, and 10 of the 7000 ton size. It now has ten of the smaller type, and one of the larger type with seven other 10,000-ton ships nearing completion.

RESCUE WORKERS IN UTAH KILLED BY FALLING ROCK

Three More Deaths In the Disaster At Standardville Mine

Helper, Utah, Feb. 8.—(UP)—Recovery of two more bodies, and definite assurance that a third man was dead, today placed the death toll in the Standard Coal mine disaster at 23.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Feb. 8.—Grim death once more has stalked through the portals of the Standard Coal Company's mine at Standardville, Utah, where a score were killed Thursday by an explosion and poisonous gas, adding the names of three rescue workers today to the list of dead.

The three men, searching the inner workings for C. H. Brady, Frank James and Tobie Wumber, missing since the explosion Thursday night, were killed instantly late last night when a huge boulder, loosened by the terrific blast which rocked the mountainside, fell on them.

Bodies Recovered. Bodies of the men were recovered and rescue workers temporarily abandoned their efforts to locate the three missing workmen, who were believed to have been killed by the monoxide gas which flooded the slopes of the mine after the blast.

The men killed by the falling rock were John R. Lowman, 24, of New Mexico; Clarence E. Smith, 36, Great Falls, Mont., and Walton Henderson, 18, of Standardville.

They were members of a "fresh air" crew and were endeavoring to ventilate one of the gas filled slopes when the huge rock fell on them.

PRESIDENT LEE CO. FAIR HUNTS MISSING SON

Nothing Is Heard Of Him For Over A Fortnight

Several more days have passed and no word has yet been received by the parents of James W. Larabee, Jr., who left Sycamore on Jan. 20, and has not been seen or heard of since then, either by Sycamore people or his parents, James Larabee, Sr., president of the Lee County Fair Ass'n., has been making a state wide search for his son fearing foul play.

Financial worries may have been the cause, as it is known that there were two judgments for large sums against his business. Mr. Larabee has been engaged in the sale of farm machinery and equipment in Sycamore. As agent for the International Harvester people in the district he had a large stock on hand, and it was thought at first that the fear of facing the creditors without funds prompted him to slip away.

Now that fifteen days have gone by without word, being heard of him by his parents, who even attempted to locate him by broadcasting his description by radio from Chicago, the father fears foul play. It is said that Larabee, Jr. had a violent temper, and could easily be wrought up to extreme at times, wrought up to extremes at times. Larabee is single and thirty-five years of age.

NEGRO SLAYERS OF GOVT. AGENT ARE ACQUITTED

Oklahoma Jury Accepted Their Story of Self Defense

Stillwater, Okla., Feb. 8.—(AP)—John Young and his wife, LaTosca, Negroes, were acquitted by a district court jury here today of a murder charge growing out of the death two months ago of O. P. Butler, federal prohibition enforcement officer, who was killed when he attempted to serve a warrant on the Negroes at Cushing, Okla.

A jury deliberated since 9 o'clock Wednesday night. It upheld the contention of defense counsel that the Negroes shot in self defense when Butler and George S. Danhour, another federal enforcement officer, drew their guns.

The shooting occurred at the Young home in Cushing December 10. Danhour was wounded, but has recovered. He appeared as a state witness against the Negroes.

The state had asked the death penalty.

PROBE PRESENTS MADE SANITARY DIST. TRUSTEES

Cook Co. Prosecutor's Curiosity Piqued By Examination

Chicago, Feb. 8.—(AP)—State's Attorney John A. Swanson's curiosity has been piqued by the reputed bestowal of a million dollars worth of gifts to trustees of the Chicago Sanitary District under the Presidency of T. J. Crowe.

He has begun an investigation to learn more about the presents, which he said ranged from radios to diamonds. They were given, the State's Attorney's office declared, by the U. S. A. Company, electrical equipment contractors.

Considerable criticism resulted in this company's installation of an ornamental lighting system, and on November 1, 1928, on McCormick Boulevard, built by the Sanitary District.

Last December, a federal grand jury scanned the records of the U. S. A. Company and returned indictments against two of its officers on income tax evasion charges. The officers were: George L. Chamberlain, President, and Fred W. Rhoades, Secretary.

The government also charged that $1,000,000 of the company's funds disappeared during the years 1927, 1928 and 1929 and that company officials refused to disclose for what purpose the money was used.

However, the State's Attorney indicated his office knew where the money went to; further than that, John Northrup, an Assistant State's Attorney, said he would seek indictments against some of those alleged to have received presents.

CONGRESSIONAL PROBE OF LAW ENFORCEMENT

Will Be Demanded Next Week By Senator Wheeler, Mont.

BY PAUL R. MALLON

(United Press Staff Correspondent) Washington, Feb. 8.—(UP)—A congressional investigation of prohibition will be demanded in a resolution to be offered in the Senate next week, Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Mont., announced today.

Wheeler, who conducted the Daugherty investigation, said he was writing a resolution proposing that the Judiciary committee conduct the inquiry. Wheeler, a dry, is not a member of the committee, which is overwhelmingly dry, and, therefore, would not take a part in the investigation.

Threats that such a resolution would be offered were made by Wheeler a week ago when he questioned the transfer of Prohibition Administrator John F. J. Hebe from the Baltimore District to the Montana-Idaho area. His present move is prompted not by this case, however, but by a desire to ascertain facts concerning enforcement methods.

The Herbert case was cleared up for the present at least when Prohibition Commissioner Doran announced he had investigated the unpublished charges against Herbert and found them to be false. Herbert has returned to his post.

"I think the public should know how the Bureau is being conducted," Wheeler said. "Every one realizes enforcement has broken down not only in the large cities but in many localities, including my state. I feel Congress should ascertain if proper methods have been employed."

"We have all received private information concerning various situations which require investigation."

Other dries, including Senator Borah Repr., Idaho, have been dissatisfied with the personnel of the enforcement bureau and probably would support Wheeler's resolution but the greater number of Senatorial dries have been opposed to any investigation. The resolution would have to get their support before the inquiry could be ordered.

Situation Complicated. While this new move complicates the prohibition situation in the Senate, the House was rapidly moving forward toward a passage of the Williamson bill proposing transfer of enforcement from the Treasury to the Justice Department. When the Williamson committee conducted hearings on the bill it refused to go into the charges and stories which prompted Wheeler to decide to push for an investigation.

House parliamentarians believe the transfer bill will pass late tonight, but the fight around the amendment leaving the industrial alcohol unit in the Treasury is yet in doubt.

The Senate continued general debate upon the tariff, Independents and Democrats arguing with Republicans about the effect of the resolution which the coalition is warring.

Sentenced To Die On Plea Of Guilty

Chicago, Feb. 8.—(AP)—August Vogel, confessed whine slayer of a motorist, who brushed against his auto, today was sentenced to die in the electric chair on April 18.

Vogel had pleaded guilty and thrown himself upon the mercy of the court. He wept as the sentence was pronounced by Judge Otto Kerner of Criminal Court.

Judge Otto Kerner of Criminal Court, who considered the case three days before passing the sentence, was visibly moved by the necessity of being both judge and jury.

"There are no mitigating circumstances," he said. "The man has shown an abandoned and malignant heart and murdered a man in cold blood. Only the death penalty can be returned in justice."

The widow of Lyle Perrenoud, who was slain by Vogel last October 12, was in the courtroom.

"That's what I hoped for," she commented on the sentence.

Vogel's wife, Katherine, rushed toward the condemned man, but was restrained by bailiffs.

Taft Continue To Show Improvement

Washington, Feb. 8.—(AP)—William Howard Taft continued today to show recuperative powers and his condition had improved to such an extent that his brother, Horace D. Taft, decided this morning to return to the Taft School at Watertown, Connecticut, of which he is Head Master.

The physicians of Mr. Taft, Dr. Thomas A. Clayton and Francis R. Hagner, in a bulletin issued at 11:30 A. M. said:

"The Chief Justice continues to improve, and is very comfortable." Horace Taft said he was confident his brother was in no immediate danger.

Earle Says He Made Love to Spanish Dancer

But Denies He Mentioned Marriage Or Money To Her
Los Angeles, Feb. 8.—(UP)—Ferdinand "Affinity" Earle, noted artist, was deeply in love with Dolores Salazar, Spanish dancer, and made love to her, but he did not speak of marriage—nor money, he declared in his deposition read into court records at the trial of Miss Salazar's suit asking $30,000 from the artist for asserted breach of promise.
Court was adjourned until Monday after the deposition was read yesterday.
In his testimony, sworn to in Paris where he is now living with his fourth wife, Earle also denied that he had promised to make Miss Salazar a beneficiary in his will or that he had forced her out of his apartment.
In fact, Earle claimed that after Miss Salazar left him he went to her home and pleaded for her return in three languages—Spanish, when addressing Dolores, French, when talking to her aunt and English when addressing other relatives.
Earle denied going through a mock marriage ceremony in Mexico City with the dancer.
"At the first smile she fell into my lap like a ripe peach," Earle testified.
He also denied that he ever beat Miss Salazar, but admitted he once slapped her in a cafe.

MY JOY
A golden fountain in the sun,
Unfolds each day its treasures one by one;
Some fragmentary bit of tune
I hear above the plates at noon.

A friend with starry eyes I greet;
A splash of color lights the street.
Exotic bit of prism sky
I snatch as quickly I go by.
And in per chance the day is gray.
A memory of yesterday.
And then with dark so still and deep,
My books, a quiet smile, and sleep.

—John C. Ritercy.

Surprise for several Proved Very Pleasant Successful Affair

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Eberly and Mr. and Mrs. George Wolf were guests of honor at a farewell party, Tuesday evening, when about seventy fellow-neighbors and friends gathered at the hospitable home of C. E. and DeWitt Morgan, north of Dixon.

Bunco, cards and visiting kept the guests so well entertained during the evening that before they knew what time it was, they heard the call to "come and eat." All did justice to the last refreshments that the ladies had brought with them in their baskets, that are always so heavy when they arrive at the party and go home so much resembling Mother Hubbard's cupboard.

At the conclusion of the supper, H. J. Hughes, with an appropriate anecdote and a well chosen little speech, presented each of the two families with an end table, in behalf of the company assembled. Mr. Hughes voiced the regret of their neighbors that these people are soon to leave their community for homes in other neighborhoods, and extended best wishes to them in their new homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Eberly and Mr. and Mrs. Wolf with gracious words, accepted their gifts and spoke of their appreciation of them and the good will represented by them.

It was rather late when the guests departed for their homes, expressing their enjoyment of the happy evening to Mr. Morgan and DeWitt, and Mrs. Hoover.

Cards were the diversion of the evening, high favors being awarded to Miss Gladys Smith and Milla Wohnke.

The surprise of the evening came when Miss Smith found in her prize an announcement of the approaching marriage of Miss Randall to Crawford Thomas, of Sterling, which will take place March twentieth.

Prairieville Social Circle in Meeting

The Prairieville Social Circle was entertained at its home of Mrs. Martin Lenox with an attendance of twenty-two members, seven guests and four children. At noon an appetizing dinner was served, the hostess serving excellent meat loaf. After dinner a business meeting was conducted at which time several letters of thanks for flowers were read. The work for the day was the marking of ninety-three pieces of linen for the Katherine Shaw Bethea Hospital.

The guests then departed after having spent a very pleasant day. The next meeting of the Circle will be held in two weeks at the home of the president, Mrs. Paul Harms.

Prairieville P. T. A. Interesting Meeting Thursday Evening

The monthly meeting of the Prairieville P. T. A. was held Thursday evening, Feb. 6 in the church, the lower room of which is now used as a school room. There was an attendance of about 90.

The program opened with two songs by the entire school. In the second one, "I'm Only Painting the Clouds With Sunshine," the solo part was carried by Clarence Kreider.

The treasurer's report showed that the dressed chickens and bake sale last week returned the sum of $45.37. Miss McCune, the musical director of the school, announced that the March program would be given by the newly organized Junior Mendelsohn Club of the Prairieville School and invited everyone to attend.

The association voted to have John Hartman's Sunday School class of St. John's Lutheran church give their play at the Prairieville church on Feb. 28 for the benefit of the P. T. A.

The grammar school sang "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot." Mrs. Kittie Ballou and Mrs. Allie Reed of Dixon sang two very enjoyable numbers with Mrs. Reed at the piano. These two former Palmyra ladies can always be depended upon to delight the audience.

County Supt. of School L. W. Miller gave the address of the evening on "The Outlook." Mr. Miller said that he felt sure that the school board would have the backing and the unqualified support of the patrons of the district in their task of rebuilding. He explained fully the course to pursue in planning for a new building, raising the necessary funds, etc., and the value of the taxable property in the district. He also compared various types of buildings and their desirability for school purposes.

Supt. Miller was very emphatic in his plea for the continuation of a two-room school. No teacher, he said can do with a one-room school what is being done here. The pioneers who built the old school building which stood for 71 years built the best. The people of the district should put their best into the new building.

Mrs. Ballou and Mrs. Reed sang as the closing number "Loves Old Sweet Song", in a very effective and pleasing manner.

The hospitality committee served refreshments of sandwiches, pickles and candy bars.

Legion Auxiliary Meeting Proved A Very Pleasant Affair

A very enjoyable affair was the meeting held by the American Legion Auxiliary, Dixon Unit, No. 12, Wednesday afternoon in Legion Hall. There was a large attendance of the members, also quite a few guests, these being ladies who are eligible to the Legion Auxiliary. The meeting opened in regular form, and the business of the order followed. The President, Mrs. Lila Wagner, gave a report of the activities of the unit for the quarter ending Jan. 31.

Money given to child welfare work $20.00; for rehabilitation, the amount donated was $49.00. Sixty-eight pounds of carpet rags was sent to Edward Hines Hospital; flowers, cards and letters sent members at time of sickness and loss of loved ones by death; also letters of congratulation where new babies have arrived in homes of Legion families.

Plans were discussed for some work for the children at the home at Normal, Ill., also voted to send a case of eggs to Oak Forest T. B. Sanatorium. A card party will be given Friday, Feb. 21, at the home of Mrs. Jess. Garner, 822 Peoria Ave., for the Legion ladies and friends.

A short program was then given honoring the birthday anniversaries of Washington and Lincoln. Mrs. A. D. George, accompanied by Mrs. J. C. Koller sang two numbers. Rev. Siple, pastor of the Church of God, gave a very interesting talk. He spoke particularly of the spiritual life of both Lincoln and Washington; that their was the true patriotism "for God and country." He expressed pleasure for the opportunity to attend the business meeting and learn of the work being done by the Legion Auxiliary.

These numbers were much enjoyed and thanks expressed by the unit ladies to Mrs. George, Mrs. Koller and Rev. Siple. The social committee Mrs. Stella Hippie, Mrs. Bess Palmer, Mrs. Francis Devine, Mrs. Florence Fordyce, Mrs. Louise Graff and Mrs. Edna Arnold served delicious refreshments and a social hour was much enjoyed.

Twelfth Birthday Celebrated Today

Dick Durkes, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Durkes, is entertaining a company of twenty-six friends this evening, honoring his twelfth birthday, from 7 to 10 o'clock. A basket ball game, Hearts, and wonderful moving pictures displayed by Mrs. E. A. Sicksels on her moving picture machine will be features of the happy evening. Pictures of the Sicksels camp in the north woods near Lac du Flambeau, of wild game, etc., will appeal to the boys, especially. Mrs. Durkes will supervise the luncheon and she has a wonderful intuition when refreshments for the growing boy is in question.

"The Young Idea" Good Entertainment

At St. Anne's Hall last evening the Northwestern Players, the Repertory Theater staff, under the capable direction of Grant H. Leverton, presented the sparkling little comedy in three acts by Noel Coward, successful young playwright, who has also given to the public in the last few years such plays as "Adam and Eva," "The Youngest," etc., etc.

"The Young Idea," was given in Dixon under the auspices of the Literature Department of the Dixon Women's Club, whose chairman is Mrs. Ray Kline, and the department is congratulated on the success of the occasion, the hall being well filled with an interested and well pleased audience. The cast of young players performed under several handicaps and proved themselves "real troopers," for the audience did not perceive any of these trials and tribulations in the acting, for each player performed his, or her role in a very capable manner, the play as a whole, giving great satisfaction. The story is bright and entertaining, evidently written in one of Coward's happiest moods. The program and cast is printed below. The Women's Club members are well pleased that the people of Dixon appreciate their efforts in bringing high class entertainment to the city, and the ladies are grateful for the support given them, a neat sum swelling the treasury of the club thereby. The program and cast is printed below:

Rev. Paul Gordon And Wife Welcomed at Reception Thursday

A large company of members and friends attended the reception given Thursday evening at Bethel church, to honor their new pastor and wife, who have recently moved here from Johnstown, Pa., to take up their labors here. All wish them a prosperous and happy stay in our community.

A bountiful picnic supper took place at 6:30, the great varieties of foods serving the most fastidious; the tables and dining room being decorated in yellow and red streamers. A basket of bittersweet and lighted candles added beauty to the tables.

The Ministerial Association of the city was represented by Rev. J. Frank Young, Rev. B. F. Cleaver and Rev. A. D. Shafer.

At eight o'clock a delightful and interesting program was given including congregational songs and an opening prayer by Rev. Romally of Cedarville, who was also a guest.

Homer Sennett extended the welcome address in behalf of the church congregation and Rev. Young for the Ministerial Association. Both gave splendid talks with much original humor.

Mrs. Carl Hess and Mrs. John Nelson gave readings. The Louis Zigler children and Cleora Wadsworth of the Sunday School also gave readings and a song.

Mrs. Edna Weyant and Carl Hess rendered a vocal duet, Jessie Weyant accompanying.

One Hundred Members Join "Cinema Salon" In Exclusive Set

BY HARRY FERGUSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
New York, Feb. 8.—(UP)—This matter of New York's bluest bloods being forced to mingle with the rabble whenever they want to see a motion picture show reached the point Thursday where society matrons went right up in the air.

They didn't come down until they had reached the 50th floor of the Chanin Building, where they rented a private movie house. Henceforth fornettes may be raised with the proper gesture whenever the shadow image of La Garbo languishes in the arms of one of those tall, dark men who are invariably suggesting to that actress that love laughs at locksmiths.

Henceforth the situation has been most depressing to the members of the social set, for it happens to be a custom here that anyone who has 50 cents and the strength to push it into a box office window and ask for a ticket, can be admitted to a motion picture house. The price varies—sometimes being as much as $2—but the principle is the same. Thus the dowager and the debutant, out for an afternoon of good, clean fun, might find themselves in a movie house next to an urchin devious noise in the process that competed quite successfully with the sounds from the screen.

So Mrs. Jeanne Gowen, divorced wife of Albert Y. Gowen, Chicago business man, has come to the rescue. She learned that when the Chanin Building was constructed someone thoughtfully put a motion picture house on the 50th floor.

The Chanin Building Auditorium has been popular for millionaires desiring to give exclusive parties, and Mrs. Gowen conceived the idea of forming the "International Cinema Salon," where on every Thursday night for 20 weeks the society folk can gather and view motion pictures in a drawing room atmosphere. They will be far above the growl of traffic, high in their ivory tower away from the gilt and noise of the ordinary motion picture house.

Only 100 persons will be allowed to join the "International Cinema Salon," and since New York still has its "Four Hundred," it is presumed that the remaining 300 will be forced to continue their attendance at ordinary movie palaces, or go to the Metropolitan Opera House Thursday evenings.

Clouds of a threatening greenish hue began to gather about seven o'clock and many of the ticket holders made hasty preparations and gained the auditorium before the storm broke, waiting almost an hour for the performance. Others who were not so fore-sighted were obliged to go thru streets running with water and littered with limbs of trees and signboards which had been wrenched from their holdings by the violent wind.

The four men who made up this quartet left their hotel in the worst of the downpour in order to open their program on schedule time; their taxicab just escaped being struck by a falling electric sign on the way; and when they alighted, they had to wade thru ankle-deep water, necessitating their singing in soppy wet footgear.

But the drenching had in no way dampened the spirits of the singers, nor the enthusiasm of their audience. The storm had damaged the electric light system and acetylene torches had to be installed, before the program could begin. In spite of all these difficulties, a letter came to the management of the singers a few days later, saying that the International Singers were the greatest male quartet ever heard by the writer in his experience as a teacher and director of glee clubs.

The members of the quartet are Victor Edmunds, first tenor; George Rasely, second tenor; Erwyn Mutch, baritone; and James Davies, bass, and Royal Andrews Merwin, pianist.

This Really Seems A Sensible Strike

Chicago, Feb. 8.—(UP)—Mothers of more than 100 school children who have been compelled to cross 16 railroad tracks since they were transferred from the Lovett to the Burbank Junior high school declared today that they will appoint 10 of their number to accompany the boys and girls to the Lovett school and act as teachers.

Sixty parents at a mass meeting voted to take possession of vacant class rooms in the Lovett school and install mothers best fitted to teach. Pupils, acting under instructions of parents, have been on "strike" for several days.

Half-Sleeves Bring Worry Over Elbows

BY DIANA MERWIN

Paris (AP)—Beauty culture is extended to include beautifying of the elbows since forward looking Parisians decided to prepare for a spring and summer of elbow sleeves.

A little elbow oil, some elbow cream and plenty of elbow massage are recommended by courtiers and beauty specialists for women with bony or roughened elbows.

The half-sleeve, ending just above the middle joint of the arm, is the most difficult of all sleeves, it is generally admitted. Only the perfectly rounded, soft white arm can stand without a little assistance to nature.

Sitting for 15 minutes morning and evening with the elbows in little bowls of olive oil is part of the elbow culture recommended by one specialist.

After the oil comes massage, then vanishing cream and liquid powder are applied.

Revival of half sleeves is forecast as a result of midseason styles sent to the Riviera and southern resorts.

Nearly all silk summer dresses of informal type shown so far are sleeveless or have sleeves chopped off above the elbow.

BUSINESS AS DICTATOR.

Chicago's experience with municipal bankruptcy, dismal as it is, may yet provide a considerable gleam of light for the mis-ruled American city dweller.

Chicago is broke and has been broke for quite a while. Now a committee of prominent citizens, holding tax anticipation warrants as security, has pledged a fund big enough to carry the empty city treasury along; but it has tacked a kicker on to this pledge that may spell confusion for the politicians.

This kicker is a simple stipulation that the money be properly spent. Not a penny is to be disbursed without the full knowledge and approval of the committee, which is composed of business men and not of politicians.

There is just a faint bit of light in that procedure. In the long run it may turn out to be a beacon of considerable importance.

Chicago, harassed by politicians who have led the city through financial extravagance, incompetence and graft into a hopeless wilderness of debt and penury, has the germ of a big idea in this citizens' committee. If present trends continue this idea may prove the salvation, not only of Chicago, but of many other cities.

It is a commonplace among students of municipal government that the average American city could be operated with the utmost efficiency for far less money than is usually the case. The necessary departments such as police and fire forces, hospitals, schools, lights, water supply and street maintenance could be run better than they ordinarily are, for less money than is ordinarily spent on them.

Politics stands in the way. Padded payrolls, favoritism, incompetence and downright crookedness keep the tax bills rising; and, as by-product, they impair the kind of service that these municipal agencies render.

Suppose, now, that a big city like Chicago suddenly puts all of its expenditures in the hands of a non-partisan committee of business men.

How long would a departmental payroll be kept at twice its rightful size for the sake of ward-heeling runners and their friends? How long would expensive contracts with the friends of political big-wigs be tolerated? How long would an official last who had nothing to recommend him but the fact that he had always played ball with the boys at election time?

The answers are obvious. A stunt of this kind could free a city, overnight, from the dead weight of politics that afflicts nearly every municipality in America.

Of course, the remedy is drastic. It runs counter to our cherished ideas of self-government. Government by big business could be quite as disturbing as government by cheap politicians.

But that is the end toward which present trends are taking us. Chicago has just about reached it. Other cities, following the same path that Chicago took, can take warning. When mis-rule continues too long, business will assume the dictatorship. And it, at least, will give us efficiency and economy.

The whole nation is anxiously watching the bulletins on the condition of the health of the beloved William Howard Taft. A brilliant mind and a kind and jovial soul, this distinguished American has a unique place in the hearts of his countrymen.

President Hoover's action in naming the eminent Charles E. Hughes to succeed William Howard Taft, resigned, as Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court has met with general approval all over the country. Mr. Hughes is supremely equipped to fill the position.

There is a lot of room for advancement in civilization. What kind of a man could it have been who cut the tongues out of the mouths of two horses owned by a blind man?

If the heat generated by the politicians campaigning for office now will take the ice off the streets and sidewalks it will not have been so hard to bear after all.

Spring moving day was correctly named if it was designated because of mixed emotions.

Being President of Mexico is almost as jumpy a job as working a racket in Chicago.

That Rockford fellow who remarried his fifth wife ought to be pretty well tamed by this time.

One good way to discuss a question with an angry person is over the telephone.

Even occasional family bouts are staged over a purse.

The Oilcan man laughed at the bunch and said, "I have a happy hunch that I can be of help to you. Now don't all start to grin, and think that I can't do a thing. Why, gee, some comfort I can bring despite the fact that I am merely made of bits of tin."

"Hurray for you," one Tiny said. "If you can aid us, go ahead. But, tell us, what have you in mind? We'd surely like to know. We'll gladly stay a while and play if you can do the things you say, but if you're only fooling, it is better that we go."

"You see, we have a little bike and it is natural that we like to ride upon it, so we do not want to loiter long. Perhaps you'd like a nice trip, too, and here is what we'll gladly do; we'll gladly let you join us, and just trust that naught goes wrong."

"Now wait a minute, little lad. The plan you have is not so bad," replied the friendly Oilcan. "But I care not for a trip. I thought, though, I could oil your wheel. Think how much greater it would feel. 'Twill make the wheels run easier, though 'twill cause no parts to slip."

"Oh, gee, that sure sounds fair enough," haled Clowdy. "And, if it's no bluff, go right a head and oil our bike. We'll help you if we can. The wheels will soon go 'round and 'round. We'll ride till some new place is found. If I remember right, both wheels were squeaky as they ran."

So, while the bunch looked on, amused, a lot of real good oil was used to fix the bike up properly. The oiling job seemed fun. At last the Oilcan man said, "You can try it out now, 'cause I'm through. I think you'll be surprised to find how easy it will run."

AID FOR SNAKE BITES

By Robert T. Morris, M. D.

New York, N. Y.

(This series of articles is prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial Institute, which is organized to perpetuate the life work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. The headquarters of the Institute are at 1331 G Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.)

When the fangs of our American rattlesnakes and copperheads inject poison into almost any part of the body, excepting blood vessels, absorption of the poison takes place more slowly than most persons imagine.

Full effects of poison from a bite may not develop until several hours after the injury, so that there is plenty of time to place a ligature around an arm or a leg where venomous snakes strike most often. Fear usually increases the rate of heart action and thus causes more rapid dissemination of the poison. Undue haste to get to some place for treatment has a similar bad effect. Whiskey increases the rate of absorption because of stimulation of blood circulation, and is therefore dangerous.

A ligature may be made of strong cord if one is at hand or a strip may be torn from clothing and twisted into rope form if a handkerchief will not roll up long enough. It is difficult to tie a ligature just right for the alternate tightening and loosening that are required. Consequently we make use of the Spanish windlass which is this:

Tie the ligature with a square knot loosely above the bite; pick up a stick, slip one end of it under the ligature and twist the stick around until the ligature is very tightly wound up. The long end of the stick will untwist at once when released.

leased. In order to prevent that the something else around this long end to keep it in place. At intervals of about fifteen minutes untwist the ligature and allow circulation to proceed while one counts ten. This will avert danger from gangrene which might follow complete obstruction of natural blood circulation for too long a time at one stretch. Next, and while the ligature is still in place, make a cross-cut an inch long through the skin over each puncture. Muscle pressure has a natural tendency to force venom, like any other fluid, out back through the skin punctures. The elastic skin does not allow such escape freely. It makes a sort of stop-valve. So you cut the skin in order to allow the free escape of venom which is trying to escape back through the skin punctures. All that is necessary is to make a clean cut all the way through the skin in two directions in the form of a cross. If a large blood vessel should be cut the bleeding may be controlled by pressing a finger point firmly on the spot. No one need ever die from a bleeding blood vessel if there is a finger handy to press on the spot. A cut nerve may be stitched up later by a surgeon.

Sucking the wound is commonly advised, but it adds more peril for the patient than it is worth because of infection of the wound from mouth microbes. Snake venom taken into the mouth, however, is no more harmful than so much white of egg.

These are but the emergency activities. If a doctor is not available to inject serum, treat the wound, etc. A complete first-aid outfit can be secured at a drug store.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

BY AHERN

That work and service are required in building cities—not by a few citizens, but by all.

Every citizen has a great opportunity to render service to his community conditions and to help build a better city.

Time that could be profitably employed by citizens in their own business, and energy that could be used in personal affairs, must be given to those undertakings that are for the public generally.

When movements laudable and necessary come and are started, they must be pushed forward to success.

Too often certain citizens find fault with everything started. They even find fault with those citizens who sacrifice their own time and money for the success of the undertaking. These citizens should stop and think, for it is possible that their actions are holding the home city back.

These conditions often hold up progress and make the work slow and difficult. It often makes leading citizens hesitate to go ahead. All citizens should realize that in city building a united effort must be put forth and all must work and render service.

MORE BODIES FOUND

New yet sixteen years old!
GENERAL MOTORS' lowest-priced eight

The development of the New Oakland Eight in reality goes back sixteen years. Several of the engineers responsible for its design participated in the production of General Motors' first eight, in 1914. Their extensive knowledge of eight-cylinder engines has resulted in a car of remarkably sound basic design, as well as one which has many advanced features. (Its 85-horsepower engine develops one horsepower for every 37 pounds of car weight. This explains why few cars are as fast—why few, if any, can climb hills so quickly or accelerate so swiftly in traffic. Those who have driven it know how well it merits the description, "the car with superior performance.") (The New Oakland's power plant is also exceptionally smooth. Its inherent eight-cylinder smoothness has been increased by a complete down-draft fuel system—new type cylinder heads insuring uniform combustion—laminated steel spring and rubber engine mountings. (Considering its superior performance, exceptional smoothness and the beauty of its new Fisher bodies, the New Oakland Eight is very moderately priced. Thus many who have wanted to own a fine eight-cylinder automobile will find it a car of unusual appeal. Come in and drive it today.

The New Oakland Eight, $1045 and up, f.o.b. Pontiac, Michigan, plus delivery charges. Lowboy Hydraulic Shock Absorbers included in list price. Bumpers, rear fender guards and spring covers extra. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list (f.o.b.) price when comparing automobile values. Oakland Pontiac delivered prices include only authorized charges for freight and delivery and the charge for any additional accessories or financing desired.

Navy Pilot Glides Down Safely From Dirigible

These pictures prove, according to naval aeronautical experts, that the motorless glider can play an important part in the safe operation of huge dirigibles. In the aerial view above you see how a tiny glider, piloted by Lieut. Ralph S. Barnaby, was launched from the Los Angeles high above the air station at Lakehurst, N. J. The arrows show how he dived almost vertically after releasing the craft from its fastenings under the hull of the dirigible. Twelve minutes later, as pictured below, he landed safely on the field.

Good Band Coming
Postmaster George L. Spangler, Commander of the American Legion informs us that the Rochelle Band of twenty-six pieces has been secured for Decoration Day. Both afternoon and evening concert. This sure will prove a wonderful drawing card for our town on Memorial Day. A good band adds much. The Commander which was received as usual with much praise. The boys do very well. Rev. Tavenner and F. J. Blocher favored with a duet with Mrs. W. L. Moore at the piano. The "pep" song under the leadership of R. C. Gross with Rev. Tavenner at the piano proved one of the interesting numbers on the program, as well as the Dad's song. The entire meeting was presided over by the chairman, Ira Buck, who served as toastmaster as well. In that official capacity, he may be equalled, but never excelled, and, too, there is no other man in our community more interested in lads, than is Ira Buck. He teaches a class in the Brethren Sunday School of boys, and it is his one thought and aim that these boys might be taught the right things of life as well as the Scriptures. F. A. Hanson of Dixon was the speaker of the evening and in fifteen minutes he spoke a sermon so interesting by words and pleasing expression, that the audience listened intently and was reluctant when he finished. Thus the Ninth Fathers and Sons Banquet went on record as being the best ever, and all are hopeful for just as good a one next year.

Farwell Party
Ashton Gazette—A crowd of sixty or more gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eich Friday evening and tendered them a farewell party. Mr. and Mrs. Eich and family will leave the farm where they are at present living and will move to the Fred Hansen farm west of Franklin Grove where they will make their future home. An enjoyable social evening was spent after which Mr. and Mrs. Eich were presented with a painted piano scarf and library table cover. Mr. and Mrs. Eich and family will be greatly missed by the community as they were well liked and were good neighbors. We feel sure that our town and community will welcome these new people, and trust that they will learn to like their new home and new friends.

Men's Club
The Men's club will meet next Tuesday evening, Feb. 11 at the Brethren church. A good attendance is desired as some business matters will be brought before the club.

Woman's Club Notes
The Woman's club met Monday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. T. W. Brown. The program was planned by the American Homes Department, and the call response, "What I Value Most in My Home," brought out a variety of interesting answers. There were about equally divided between articles valued because of past associations and those of modern and labor saving utility. Among the more modern appliances receiving repeated mention were the radio, electrical conveniences and bath rooms.

After considerable discussion, the club voted by a large majority to join the State Federation of Women's Clubs, feeling that in this way they might aid in the different lines of betterment that are being undertaken by Federated clubs throughout the state and might also receive from the State Federation much help in the lines of work the local club is undertaking. The Franklin Grove club has been a part of the District Federation of Women's clubs since its early organization, but this is the first time it has taken up the interest and work of the State Federation.

A national "Home Library Contest" is being put on by the Department of Literature of Federated Women's clubs, and this department of the local club, of which Mrs. Leland Hanson is chairman, appointed Mrs. Elizabeth Durkes to represent the home club in the contest.

It was decided to take out a membership in the Illinois League of Women Voters, which includes a year's subscription to the Illinois Voter, containing much information on civic and governmental matters, for use of the Civic department. Different plans for community planting beautifying of roadsides, further improvement of the park, etc., were briefly discussed and will be further considered and carried out by the club under the Garden and Community Service Departments as the planting season advances.

The main feature of the program, "Exchange of Favorite Food Recipe With Sample" was then carried out and proved delightful and entertaining. Some delicious dishes were sampled and new recipes added to those already on file by members. This, with the accompanying social period, brought the meeting to a close.

Express Appreciation
The ladies of the Library Association wish to express their most sincere appreciation to one and all who assisted in any way toward the banquet served to the Fathers and Sons. The contributions were given most generously and very willingly which made the work more pleasant and an abundance of everything. The ladies fed the largest number of any yet at the banquet, over two hundred, and their reward for the same is over $100 to be given to the Library association for the purchase of new books. This is certainly very gratifying and shows the interest that the public is taking in maintaining the library. Were it not for the generosity of the public the library of course could not be maintained, as we have said before the Church, School and Library should and do in this town go hand in hand. And it is only through your help that the church and library may thrive in our midst. If you are not a member of the Library, now is a good time to join, fifty cents a year, two books a week, Wednesday and Saturday. The splendid book committee will no doubt purchase good readable books, and you will want to be a member. Get the Library Habit.

Auxiliary Meeting
The American Legion Auxiliary enjoyed a most delightful afternoon sewing carpet rags at the home of Mrs. Drucilla Banker with twelve members and two visitors in attendance.

The President, Mrs. Ruth Hussey, opened the meeting in regular form. The February bulletins were given out and a report from the state president was read. Everyone was again reminded that the home-made cookies for the soldiers confined in the hospitals are to be sent either to the home of Mrs. William Gonnemann or to the F. D. Kelley store on next Tuesday, February 11. It was decided that those who did not care to send cookies could send home-made candy.

Mrs. Grace Breuninger, the historian, reported that there are forty service men in the community who have neglected to send in the picture and the service record for the history which she is compiling. All members can assist her in this work by seeing that these are gotten to her as soon as possible.

The penny march for this meeting netted the Unit 62 cents.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Fred Krehl on Wednesday, February 19, 1930.

A short play was given by the two Latin classes.

Tables were placed in the front of the assembly and the game "Fifty" was enjoyed by the thirty-two who were present. Mr. Hanson held the highest score, so received a candy bar.

Refreshments of icecream cups and wafers were served. All report a very profitable and enjoyable evening.

Visited the School
State inspector Mr. Blair of Springfield, in company with L. W. Miller of Dixon, County Superintendent of Schools, visited the school Thursday morning. They spent the morning visiting the various rooms, attending classes and looking over the equipment. At 11:30 o'clock were dismissed to allow the two visitors to speak before the assembly.

Mr. Blair gave a very encouraging talk to the students. "No society is better than its weakest member," he said. He spoke of the mountains of life to climb and this can only be done successfully if all of the students work now rather than to sit down and let others drag them along, in which case none will go as high as if they were all pulling together.

Supt. Miller also gave a very helpful talk. He expressed the sentiment of Mr. Blair about pulling together. He said that he hoped the students had not been frightened by the prospect of their visit since they were here only for the good of the school. Mr. Miller also spoke approvingly of all that he saw and asked the students to continue to work hard and do their part. Their visit was greatly appreciated.

Received Check
Wm. Herbst received a $10 check as his share of the prize money awarded winners of the Zeppelin puzzle in the Chicago Herald Examiner. So far as we know he is the only one in this community who was awarded any compensation. Good luck Blair.

Dog Follows Order
To Summon Doctor

Lovell, Wyo.—(UP)—A child of Mrs. Dempsey was ill. Medical care was imperative. There was no telephone and the mother could not leave her child.

Mrs. Dempsey called the family dog, a cross between a collie and a shepherd, attached a note to his collar and commanded him to find Dempsey. The canine understood—he seemed to sense the fact that here was an emergency—dashed off through the snow and inside of 10 minutes a physician was enroute to the Dempsey home.

Film Seeks To Stop
Burning Of Woods

Washington.—(UP)—A new educational film, showing the disastrous effects of woods burning has just been issued by the U. S. Agricultural Department. The film, entitled "Friends of Man" is part of a campaign against the practice of woods-burning or "burning off" frequent sections of the South. It points out that trees will grow for the farmer or other landowner as a profitable crop on otherwise idle land, if given a chance by protection from fire.

BAN ONE-EYED DRIVERS

VIENNA.—(UP)—In two cases the Austrian supreme court has refused appeals against the ruling of the Austrian Ministry of Commerce that a one-eyed man cannot obtain a driver's license, no matter how well he can see with his good eye or how well he can handle an automobile.

New York—The exodus of major league baseball teams to spring training camps will start Feb. 14 when the vanguard of the New York Giants entrains for San Antonio, Tex.

With the return of a signed contract from Pitcher Bill Judd, 30, of the 35 players on the Giants 1930 roster are under contract. The unsigned players are Bill Terry, Travis Jackson, Fred Lindstrom, Mel Ott, Bob O'Farrell, Larry Benton, Ed Roush and Bill Walker.

Robert E. Walsh, youngest son of "Big Ed" Walsh, former White Sox star, has signed a contract with the Yankees. Robert is 6 feet 4 inches tall and weighs 205 pounds. He was the star pitcher for Notre Dame after his brother Ed, Jr., left school to sign with the White Sox in 1928.

Shortstop Leo Durocher, sold to Cincinnati by the Yankees after he was waived out of the American League, has notified the Yanks that he will not report unless he is given a share of his purchase price.

Reorganization of the Brooklyn club under its new regime is expected to result in trading Pitcher Dizzy Vance. The strike out king has refused to accept a $10,000 reduction from the $25,000 salary he received in 1929.

Manager Bob Shawkey of the Yankees left last night for St. Petersburg, Fla., where he will golf until his players report Feb. 23.

Burleigh Grimes, ace of the Pittsburgh Pirates pitching staff, remained a holdout today. The veteran spitballer is asking for $25,000 which is $7,500 better than the Pirates' best offer.

Ken Strong, former New York University football star, has signed with the Jersey City International League club.

With the Cagers

Chicago, Feb. 8—(AP)—Topped by Purdue's invasion of Chicago, in which the big interest lies in how many points "Stretch" Murphy will score, three games tonight will close the Western Conference basketball championship schedule for the week.

Last year when Murphy and Purdue met in Patton Gymnasium the big "Stretch" set a new individual scoring mark of 28 points. Last Monday night Murphy broke his own mark, scoring 28 points to lead his mates to a 60 to 14 triumph over Ohio State. The Maroons have lost five straight conference engagements.

Illinois plays at Minnesota tonight, and on form should just about be able to defeat the Gophers. A victory would put Illinois in a tie with Wisconsin for second place, at four victories and one defeat.

Ohio will attempt to soothe to some extent the smarting caused by its drubbing Monday night, at the expense of Indiana. The game will be played at Columbus.

Northwestern went back into action last night and scored a 40 to 19 victory over Marquette University's five. Captain Ruf Walter was back at center but was back at center for Northwestern but Russ Berghorn, John Whelan and Bert Reid did the heavy scoring for the Purple.

DIXON DEFEATED DEKALB IN BEST GAME OF SEASON

Surprised the Barbed City Boys By Victory In Battle Last Eve

Dixon Heavies, 15.....DeKalb, 13
Dixon B Team, 5.....DeKalb, 12
Bales & Wilhelm, 13.....
—Case Co. of Rockford, 23.

By Robert Lesage

Last evening the basketball fans of Dixon saw the purple and white squads put up the best fight of their careers and take DeKalb down the line for a victory. The Dixon B team lost but part of this might be attributed to the fact that several of their players were moved up to the heavyweight lineup and they were playing under difficulties. The heavyweights upset the dope bucket cracked their jinx and hit the basket time and again for shots that would spell nothing but victory.

Hasselberg, guard for Dixon, played a bang up game throughout the entire skirmish. He was continually breaking up DeKalb passes and dribbling down the floor would slam the ball to Vorhis who would cage the hoop without the slightest difficulty. At the start of the game Teeter was fouled and sent his free throw in fine order but one of his team mates slipped into the ring before the shot was completed and it was ruled no good. Then Nori of DeKalb was fouled and made good his attempt and this put them in the lead. Dixon soon overcame this margin by a sensational long shot that simply set the crowd mad. At the end of the quarter Dixon was leading 2 to 1. The locals kept up their good work in the second quarter and kept sending shots that simply made the fans' hair stand on end. Maxwell of the visitors, who had been pulled by his coach near the start of the game, came back with much more fight and gave vent to his fury by finding the hoop for 3 pretty field goals. The score at the half was 8 to 7 in Dixon's favor. At the start of the next quarter DeKalb came back with blood in their eyes. And before three minutes of the quarter had elapsed took the lead and at the end of the period was leading 13 to 11.

Then started the part of the contest that sent the fans into hysterics and finally sheer madness. The locals had no idea of letting victory be snatched from their grasp and swept into a pace that set DeKalb dizzy. Before two minutes of the final quarter had passed by Cortright uncorked a beautiful shot that finally rung the hoop to tie the score. The visitors hurled one attack after another on Teeter and Hasselberg but they stood up under fire and finally Vorhis caged the winning shot. Thus Dixon emerged from the turmoil on the large arena of a 15 to 13 score. Maxwell, the captain of De Kalb, was their outstanding player, making four field goals from angles that it was almost an impossibility to guard him at. With this victory in their blood and the taste of defeat washed from their mouths, Dixon ought to jump into a winning stride and make a name for themselves. The teams lined up as follows:

DeKalb B Team Visitors

The Dixon B team was not so fortunate in the outcome of their battle, but due to the absence of many of their players a part of their weakness might be accounted for. DeKalb, by getting the tip-off most of the time, was able to carry on most of the offensive actions and started right out with St-phani singling a long floor shot. McReynolds on being fouled made a successful trip to the free throw line and made a point that caused the score to be 2 to 1 at the quarter in favor of the visitors. In the next quarter Berg sent a free throw for the out of town team and at the end of the first half the locals were trailing 2 to 1. At the start of the third quarter DeKalb jumped into the fight with a vim and before a greatly outnumbered Dixon team woke up had increased their lead 10 to 3. In the final period each team made a field goal apiece and with but a few minutes left to play the coach of each respective school sent in a whole new team of substitutes. They battled it out in fine style but were unable to score. The game ended with the Dixon B team being down 12 to 5. Hilliker and Mitchell broke even with honors on the Dixon quintet with a field goal apiece, while Malen was high point man for the visitors with two field goals and a free throw to his credit. Bales and Wilhelm Lose

The Bales & Wilhelm in the opening performance of the evening suffered a decided defeat at the hands of a much faster Case Co. quintet from Rockford. The visiting team was not long in hitting its stride and by the quarter had swung into an easy lead of 6 to 1. Then in the second quarter Bales came back fast and furious and by two field goals sent by Jones and Padgett, one apiece, were able to take the lead for a while but Nelson of the Rockford aggregation soon relieved his team of this burden and caged the hoop for two points and to give his team the lead at the half by a score of 8 to 7. For awhile at the beginning of the third quarter the locals were able to keep up with the classy style of basketball displayed by the Rockford five and the score was tied 13 to 13 but this was soon broken, due to the sensational playing of Geise, and at the end of the period the visitors were in the lead again, 16 to 13. The less said about the last quarter, the better. Rockford completely tied up the locals and scored time and again at will, just as if their opposition were so many youngsters. A rather sheep-like looking Bales team was forced to leave the floor, down-trodden 23 to 13. Roundly was high point man of Dixon with 6 points to his credit while Geise was along responsible for 17 points of his team's score. On six trips to the foul circle he made five of them good and his favorite sport was sinking one handed field goals from the right hand side of the floor. The teams lined up as follows:

Stevensville, Mont.—(UP)—After 54 years, the worm turned and with the turning, J. F. Borough, pioneer hardware man, enjoyed that grand and glorious feeling of "Letting George Do It."

For 53 years, Borough made the annual stock inventory of his store. It was a tedious and disagreeable task.

The Rio Rico course is one of the trickiest in the state. On several holes the player faces a tee shot that must not be too long and must be driven straight for the green. It is 1,672 yards long and has a par of 72. Al Espinosa, Bill Melihorn, Harry Cooper, Neal McIntyre, Indianapolis, and Mike Turnesa of Elmford, N. Y., were among the favorites to finish in the money.

Pages From Life Taft Are Related History of "Bill"

BY HERBERT LITTLE

United Press Staff Correspondent
Washington, Feb. 7.—(UP)—William Howard Taft, whose boyhood ambition was the supreme court, refused an appointment to the court proffered by his closest friend, Theodore Roosevelt, in 1902. Taft disregarded the knock of fortune on his door, for he found greater opportunity where he was then, acting as Godfather to the Philippine Islands.

When Taft, Solicitor-General, and Roosevelt, Civil Service Commissioner, met in 1890, they became fast friends in a bond which profoundly affected American political history. The breaking of the bond was destined to affect the nation even more.

A short time after "Will" and "Theodore" met, they went their ways, Roosevelt to become Governor of New York, Vice-President and President, and Taft to accept in 1892 President Harrison's appointment to a judgeship in the Sixth Circuit, embracing Michigan, Ohio, Kentucky and Tennessee. His associates were Judge William R. Day, later a Supreme Court Justice, and Judge H. H. Lurton.

The young judge—he was only 35—made history during his eight years on that bench. In the Addison pipe case he dissolved a combination of manufacturers under the new Sherman anti-trust act, marking a great step in federal constitutional control over giant industry. Some of the principles enunciated here were those which Roosevelt used in his famous fight against monopolies.

In two other notable decisions, Taft squelched labor union methods of fighting their employers. The decisions were used against him by labor in his political career later. Taft granted an injunction to railroad employers to prevent railroad engineers from going on a sympathetic strike. In the Phelan case, growing out of the Debs-American Railway Union strike of 1894, Taft again interdicted a boycott. An organizer ordered Cincinnati Southern workers on a sympathetic strike, as a protest against Pullman Company cars. Taft sent Phelan to jail for contempt, and Governor Altgeld of Illinois coined the phrase "government by injunction."

Taft was pitchforked out of his judgeship by President McKinley and Secretary of War Elihu Root to establish civil government in the turbulent Philippines, where Aguinaldo and his followers had been stirring up rebellion since American military rule supplanted Spanish military rule.

Taft's first act on his arrival in the Philippines was to announce the United States would maintain its sovereignty over the islands. Hopes of the islanders for independence were crushed.

Then he announced a policy of "the Philippines for the Filipinos," made an intimate study of the situation, and embarked upon a definite policy of fair dealing and conciliation.

The big-framed Governor found that the Friars held title to some of the most productive land, so he got a $7,000,000 appropriation from Congress, and bought the lands without antagonizing the Catholic church.

Roosevelt, made president by an assassin's bullet, offered Taft the Supreme Court job, but he declined despite his friend's insistence. Roosevelt then appointed Oliver Wendell Holmes to the job.

In 1904 Roosevelt brought Taft home to be Secretary of War. He assumed the job of administering the construction, just then starting, of the Panama Canal, in addition to overseeing the War Department and the Philippines. He went to the Philippines to open the legislature when partial self-government was instituted. Stopping in Tokyo, he made a famous speech against the folly of war between the United States and Japan. He extended the trip to a triumphal world tour.

Cuba, freed from Spain, rebelled upon native self-rule, and President Palma called on Roosevelt for help. Taft surveyed the situation and visited Havana, along with warships and soldiers. He drew up a compromise, but Palma resigned, so he took over the island temporarily to establish order. In the following year, 1907, Roosevelt sent Taft to Panama and Porto Rico to quiet disturbances. Taft also made a report on Cuba which led to withdrawal of American troops.

Roosevelt at home was busy with politics. When Taft found a breathing spell in 1907, Roosevelt told him he was to be President. Roosevelt's great organization under his orders put Taft across in the 1908 Republican convention and election, and Roosevelt sailed triumphantly away to hunt lions in Africa.

BACK OF THE DIGNIFIED ALOOFNESS OF THE NATION'S NEW CHIEF JUSTICE

Charles Evans Hughes Could Translate Classics at 9—Grew Famous Whiskers to Get College Professor's Job at 19—His Movie Story Romance—Once Opposed Dry Law—His Formula for Ideal Religion

Above, Mr. Hughes as a student at Brown—one of the few photos ever made showing him without his famous whiskers. Below, as governor of New York, his first big political office.

Above are Mr. and Mrs. Hughes as they appeared when he was the Republican presidential candidate in 1916—the year when he went to bed on election night believing himself elected, only to find later that western returns had brought victory to Woodrow Wilson. Below, Lord Balfour, of Great Britain, Mr. Hughes and Premier Briand of France are shown at the Washington arms conference in 1921.

Mr. Hughes is shown above with William Howard Taft, the man whom he succeeds as chief justice, and who—when president—once planned to appoint Mr. Hughes as chief justice. Famous throughout his career as a brilliant orator, Mr. Hughes is shown here in action in the inset. He is unquestionably one of the greatest public speakers of his day. The picture at the right shows Mr. and Mrs. Hughes and their youngest daughter, Elizabeth. Young Hughes met and won his bride when he was a struggling young clerk in her father's law office.

Beshears, both of Rochelle, were united in marriage at the Presbyterian Manse here Saturday afternoon by the pastor, Rev. Frank A. Campbell. The witnesses were Mr. Chapman, step-father of the bride and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Quest.

Adam Beck of Rochelle announces the marriage of his daughter, Miss Marcelle M. Beck, to Edwin W. Rice, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Rice, of Kings, the ceremony occurring at the parsonage of Rev. John Gordon at Rockford, Friday evening. Mr. and Mrs. William Beck, of Rochelle attended the couple. Miss Beck was graduated from Rochelle high school with the class of 1922 and has been employed at Hotel Collier here. She is a talented singer and dancer. Mr. Rice is employed by the Peterson Recreation parlors on West State street, Rockford, where they will reside.

The Ladies Aid society of St. Paul's Lutheran church met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Onno Gruben, at the church parlors at which time the newly elected officers took their places. The officers are: Mrs. A. V. Place, President; Mrs. John Frey, Vice President; Mrs. O. H. Linne-meier, Secretary, and Mrs. Herman Redenius, Treasurer.

The next meeting of the Rochelle Garden club will be held on Valentine's Day, Feb. 14, at the home of Mrs. Thomas McEachren. Current topics of interest on gardening will be discussed. At Friday afternoon's meeting the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. J. C. Morrison; vice president, Mrs. Geo. H. Cobb; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. C. H. Allen. Mrs. Thomas McEachren and Joyce B. Weeks were named as an entertainment committee.

Commissioner of Finance J. A. Herrmann now serving his second term as a city commissioner, who now becomes mayor of the city of Rochelle, with the resignation of Mayor Wilbur B. McHenry, is cashier of the Rochelle National Bank. Mr. Herrmann has also been active in the development of Spring Lake.

This is the second instance since Rochelle adopted the commission form of government where a commissioner has succeeded to the mayor's chair. A. L. Fogle succeeded Julius Antoine as mayor upon the death of Mr. Antoine but was defeated for reelection by Wilbur B. McHenry in the last city election. Mr. Fogle is now supervisor succeeding the late Frank J. King.

While the resignation of Mayor W. B. McHenry which was presented to members of the city council at the regular meeting held Monday night came as a surprise, it was received with deep regret. It seemed apparent that Mr. McHenry's duties as Assistant Director of Labor under Gov. Louis L. Emmerson, were becoming arduous and would compel his resignation. As the council accepted the resignation Mr. Herrmann will complete Mr. McHenry unexpired term which ends May 1, 1931. Primaries will be held in March 1931 and the election in April according to law.

Mrs. A. T. Guest will entertain members of the D. A. R. at their guest night Thursday, Feb. 13. Each member will be privileged to bring one guest. Attorney W. P. Thrills! Mystery! Danger! Romance!

"Murder Backstairs" Is Tingling Detective Story

MURDER had been committed at the fashionable Berkeley mansion, where house guests were gathered for a week-end party.

The body of Doris Matthews, a pretty maid, was found in the swimming pool. The only clew was the pungent odor of perfume that hovered about the murdered girl.

Even this insubstantial clew apparently was valueless because Gigi Berkeley, beautiful young daughter of the host, had sprinkled all the guests with a similar perfume the preceding night.

Gigi Berkeley

A SHARP-THINKING young detective, "Bonnie" Dundee, was present to keep an eye on Seymour Crosby, one of the guests, who had never quite satisfactorily explained circumstances surrounding the death of his first wife.

How the keen-witted Dundee solved the crime, found that the murder of Doris Matthews was intended for someone else whose death had long been plotted, furnishes one of the most thrilling, yet true to life, mysteries ever written.

JUDITH CAMELON, New York (typed), married a HIGH K NIGHT, executive of the publishing house in which she is employed. Knight is a widower with a daughter, TONY, 14, in Paris, and a son, JUNIOR, 10, at school. Their Bermuda honeymoon is interrupted by news that Tony is on her way back to America. Tony arrives and denounces Judith as a gold digger.

Tony is secretly continuing a flirtation with HICKY MORTIMER, wealthy and married. When Junior comes home for the Christmas holidays he also treats Judith coldly.

ANDY CRAIG, whom Knight has helped through college, takes a position with the publishing firm. He has been in love with Tony for a long while. In a fit of anger Tony tries to convince her father that Andy and Judith are carrying on an affair. Knight decides this but Tony tricks the pair into a compromising situation.

Tony's flirtation with Mortimer is revealed when they are arrested for reckless driving. Tony wins her father's forgiveness and promise of a trip to Miami. Preparations are interrupted when Knight comes home seriously ill. DR. SHEPARD, the family physician, diagnoses the case as pneumonia. Two nurses are installed in the household. Junior is summoned from school. For several days none of the family is permitted to see the patient. The nervous strain begins to tell on Judith. At last Knight begins to recover.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXIII

ARTHUR KNIGHT was going to get well.

Late March merged into early spring. Yellow sunlight, not yet warm enough to take the nip from chill air, showered its deceptive radiance over all outdoors. Sere brown shrubs became tufted with foliage.

Gradually since the tense strain of anxiety had lifted in the Knight household its members resumed their usual habits. The atmosphere of the dwelling changed. The home began to catch up with the world outside it.

Judith acquired the habit once more of walking for an hour or so each morning. On these expeditions Sandy always went along.

A faint tracer, of color crept back into the girl's cheeks. The tragic brooding look was gone from her eyes. She was still too thin but so improved in appearance that the doctor began to pay her compliments.

Each afternoon Judith spent several hours with Arthur. The two nurses, Miss Owens and Miss Mallory, were still in charge. The patient's convalescence was to be guarded against the least possible danger of a relapse.

There were flowers now in the sick man's room—a large bowl of tulips, usually as well as fragrant potted hyacinths.

When Judith was there she sat in a low chair close to the bedside where Knight could see her with out shifting on his pillow or raising his head. When he was tired of lying in one position the nurse lifted his shoulders and rearranged the pillows. Such effort was too much for the man's dwindled reserve of strength.

It was pathetic to see him lying so still and feeble, but after the anguished loneliness of the week past, to Judith this seemed a slight tax.

Knight's voice was barely above a whisper. He had been cautioned to spare himself even this exertion and most of the day he was silent. His brown eyes, though, remained on Judith whenever she was in the room. With her nearby he seemed to drift into contentment.

Junior was hearing the close of his week's absence from school. He and Tony both visited their father's bedroom daily. Tony's manner was quiet and tender. The boy seemed slightly ill at ease under the eyes of the nurse and his stepmother. When he was not with Knight other members of the household seldom saw him except at meal time.

It had been agreed that Junior should depart Sunday morning so that he might be on hand for classes Monday. He himself had made the suggestion, mumbing his words and looking off to one side as he spoke to Judith about it.

She agreed this would be best. Arthur Knight's safe recovery seemed assured. It would only interfere with the boy's school work for Junior to remain home longer. This was particularly true with Knight in such a weak state that there could be no real companion ship between the two.

Saturday evening Judith came downstairs to find Arthur Junior lying on the rug before the fire place with Sandy in his arms. The sharp rat-a-tat of the terrier's little tail beat upon the floor.

The dog looked up, welcoming his mistress; he did not stir. Judith sat down.

"Sandy's getting fond of you Junior," she said. "Pretty fine little dog, don't you think so?"

The boy nodded.

"I used to have a dog," he said. "Airdale. A cat ran over him and after that I didn't want another."

"I know," Judith nodded understandingly. "Accidents are so terrible and they happen every day. I'm trying to be awfully careful with Sandy."

The boy's arms gripped the little dog in a tight hug. Then he sat up and for several minutes studied the floor silently.

Sandy nuzzled against Junior's hand but was ignored. After several seconds of wishful appeal the dog moved on to Judith, who patted his head but gave him no encouragement to settle beside her.

Again the terrier sought attention from Junior. He was neglected. Quite without introduction the boy suddenly turned toward Judith and said huskily:

"There's something—I mean I want to—I want to tell you something before I go back to school."

She looked at him, too surprised to interrupt. Junior continued swiftly:

"Christmas time I didn't want to come home when I knew you were here. I didn't even want to see you. You wouldn't know well, I guess I can't explain the way I felt."

—but what I'm trying to say now is I'm sorry! I'm sorry I talked the way I did and said what I did. I was—wrong!"

It was quite a long speech and an embarrassing one for the boy. Judith was thoroughly amazed by it. There was no reply on the tip of her tongue. None came for a full second after Junior had finished speaking. Then she said eloquently:

"Oh—it's awfully generous of you to say that! Junior—do you mean we can be friends?"

The boy appeared to be quite busy examining the strap of Sandy's black leather collar. He nodded, bending over the dog.

"O. K. with me," he said.

JUDITH'S face was radiant. She longed to show by word or act how much—how terribly much—this meant. She wanted to slip an arm about Junior's shoulders and tell him that for weeks she had prayed for just such news. She wanted to tell him he could count on her, not to try to take a mother's place, but to offer him a home-like home, to listen to his confidences, to understand his problems.

Each of these impulses Judith suppressed. She was afraid of the way a 16-year-old youth would receive any show of emotion.

"It's O. K. with me, too," she said. "Junior, when you're here Sandy'll be your dog just as much as he's mine."

"All right. Thanks."

Immediately she began to ask questions about the dog's care, what Junior's opinion was on the merits of two different dog foods, how to handle the weekly bath which to Sandy remained a terrific ordeal. The boy answered seriously. Suddenly, to Judith's great delight, she found that talking to Arthur's son was easy and stimulating. He really did not hate her. He seemed actually friendly!

Judith was so overcome by this discovery that she could not keep from mentioning it.

She came down beside him and put out her hand.

"Let's shake hands, Junior," she said. "I'm not going to forget what you've said tonight."

The boy gave her his hand awkwardly.

"That's all right," he told her. "I really wasn't trying to be mean before. Seeing how mad you felt about Father being sick and all you've done for him sort of made me see things differently. I guess."

Judith smiled at him happily. She did not spoil the moment by prolonging it.

"Why don't you go up and say goodnight to your father now?" she suggested. "I'm sure Miss Owens will be willing to break a rule since this is your last night at home."

"Think so? Well, guess I'll try it. Can I take Sandy up?"

Tactfully Judith discouraged this last notion. When the boy returned downstairs, having bade his father good night, the living room was empty. Happiness over the evening's victory was so great Judith felt she must celebrate it so late.

Winning the confidence of Arthur's son was such a triumph. She had felt helpless over his grim opposition, so incapable of dealing with it! Now the joy—of his own will—had surrendered.

Was it too much to hope that Tony, who was his sister, would do the same?

Judith Knight pondered all this long after she had turned out the light in her room and slid beneath the covers. She drifted to sleep in a rosy glow of optimism.

Foolish Judith! Once more she made the error of underestimating Tony Knight's endeavors. How little she dreamed that what in prospect appeared to be a peaceful future was to bring the bitter blow.

AT 10 o'clock next morning, after cordial farewells had been exchanged, Arthur Junior departed for the railway station. Bert went with him, driving the large car.

Andy Craig came for Tony later in the day. Andy had proved himself a true friend throughout Arthur Knight's illness. He had called frequently for bulletins, always with an air of reassurance. Judith had blessed him because he had occasionally been able to persuade Tony to stop moping about the house and go out with him on an evening.

This Sunday Andy and Tony went motoring in the girl's own roadster. Though the ben had not been lifted officially, Tony had taken to driving her car again.

Judith watched the pair disappear down the driveway. Then she mounted the stairs and entered Arthur's room.

He greeted her cheerfully. "Miss Mallory," said Judith impulsively, "It's a gorgeous day outside. Why don't you go out for a couple of hours? I'm sure I can get anything Arthur wants. He's had his medicine, hasn't he?"

The nurse smiled doubtfully. "He doesn't really need me," she agreed. "If you're going to stay."

"Oh, I want to! Really, you might just as well be out enjoying yourself. You're willing to risk your fate in my hands, aren't you, Arthur?"

Knight smiled and bowed his head slightly.

"Well, if you think it's all right—" Miss Mallory countered. "Of course I do."

"All right then. I would like to run into the city to see my sister just for a few minutes. I can be back in an hour or so."

"Until four o'clock, then," said Judith.

The nurse withdrew. Judith brought her chair a little nearer Arthur's bed, sat down and reached out to clasp his hand. Knight's fingers twined about his wife's, then lay still upon the counterpane. "Tony's driving with Andy," she told him. "Isn't it nice after so long to have a little time all to ourselves, dear?"

She realized, the minute she said it, that she ought not to be urging him to talk. Knight's strength was not equal to conversation.

He eyed her seriously.

"Yes," he said in a slow voice. "Judith, there's something I want to talk to you about."

Woman, 29, Is Given Sentence For Life

New York, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Helen Rosen, 29 years old, with a police record as a shoplifter, was in jail today under life sentence as the first woman convicted as a fourth offender under the Baumes habitual criminal law.
She was sentenced yesterday after a jury, deliberating 15 minutes, decided that four pleas of guilty, which she had entered to charges of shoplifting during the past ten years, brought her under the provisions of the Baumes law.
Arresting officers in each of the four cases were in court to identify her. They said they knew her by numerous aliases and identified her by her Titian hair.

Former Student Of Harvard Blackmailer

Boston, Feb. 7.—(AP)—A 25-year-old former Harvard student, Allan E. Burke, was held today on a warrant charging him with being the author of a $5,000 blackmail threat aimed at the debutante daughter of Donald McKay Frost, Boston lawyer. The arrest of other persons, including a woman, police said, is expected.
On January 24 the Frost family received a letter threatening that the character of Mary Rherson Frost, 18-year-old daughter, would be attacked unless $5,000 was left in a secluded spot. No money was left and police watched in vain.
A telephone call, another letter and two telegrams the next day repeated the demand, warning "last chance tonight between 8 and 9. Newspapers are ready for story." The signature "X" was attached. A decoy package was left, but no one tried to secure it.
Police said a telegraph operator at a hotel had identified Burke as the man who sent one telegram. A handwriting expert compared his writing with the blackmail letter and his arrest followed.

All signed confessions today. The money was recovered.
